Numb. 193.

THE Pennſylvania GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Monday, July 31. to Monday, Auguſt 7. 1732.

Peterburgh, April 14.

THE News of a Peace renew'd with the Sophy of Perſia, is highly ſatisfactory to this Court, and gives great Joy to the Merchants: Whereby the Crown of Perſia is reinveſted in the Poſſeſſion of Rierſth, Baku, and Part of Ghilan, which were ſubdu'd in the laſt War: But yields to us all the Places and Provinees on this ſide the River Chur; So that our Empreſs preſerves Derbent and Schamachy; by which Means the States of Ruſſia are covered from all Incurſions of the Turks.

Bologna, April 22. The learned Madam Laura Maria Kathrina Barſi, aged about 19, defended a Philoſophical Diſputation on Thurſday laſt, with great Applauſe, in the Gallery of the Senate Houſe: It laſted three Hours, and there were preſent the Cardinal Legate, the Cardinal Archbiſhop, the Senators, with a great Number of Lords and Ladies, and all the Students. She is to maintain another Argument very ſhortly, to qualify her for the Degree of Doctor, which has not been conferred on any of her Sex theſe three Centuries.

London, May 2. The Earl Waldegrave, his Majeſty's Ambaſſador at the Court of France, is very ſpeedily to return home; and Mr. Robinſon, his Majeſty's Miniſter at the Court of Vienna, is to ſucceed him at Paris.

Laſt Saturday in the Evening, Mr. Teal, Son of the late Apothecary General, ſhot himſelf at his Houſe in Maſham Street, Weſtminſter; and on Sunday Evening the Coroner and his Jury ſat upon him, and it appeared very plain to them that he was a Lunatick.

On Saturday laſt died Miſs Suſan Walpole, Daughter to Horatio Walpole, Eſq; at his Houſe at Whitehall.

Yeſterday the Right Hon. the Lord Vere Beauclerk and the reſt of the Stwards of the Stepney Feaſt gave an elegant Entertainment to the Stewards for the Year enſuing, at Pontack's, at which the Hon. Sir Charles Wager and ſeveral other Gentlemen were preſent.

London, May 4. From Barcelona of the 27th ult. That they were buſy in ſhipping off more Artillery for Alicant, but were at a great Loſs for Tranſports, thoſe expected from the Weſtward not being ſufficient; They had no Notion of this Expedition being deſign'd otherwiſe than the Coaſt of Barbary.

Yeſterday the Governor and a Committee, Aſſiſtants of the Ruſſia Company, waited on Prince Cantemir, who lately arrived here from Ruſſia, in Quality of Reſident from the Czarina, to Compliment him in the Name of the Company.

The ſame Day an Expreſs came to St. James's with an Account of the ſafe Arrival at Park-Gate, of their Graces the Duke and Dutcheſs of Dorſet from Ireland, after a very dangerous Paſſage: They embark'd laſt Saturday ſe'nnight from Dublin with a fair Wind, but after a few Hours Sail, the Wind took them ſhort in their Teeth; and the Gale continuing to blow very hard, they lay under a Reef-Mainſail for about 36 Hours, when they put back into Carrickfergus in Ireland, about 70 Miles from Dublin, where a Conſultation was held, whether they ſhould go back to Dublin by Land, or put to Sea; but the Wind ſpringing up at N. W. which was fair for them, they arrived ſafe at Park-Gate on Friday laſt: The Seas ran ſo high, that they broke over them ſeveral times, into the State Room where their Graces were in Bed. To-morrow they are expected in Town.

And Order is paſſed for all Officers both Horſe and Foot, to repair immediately to their reſpective Poſts.

Hague, March 28. The Report which has been ſpread in Foreign Countries, of the King of Spain's Deſign to abdicate the Crown a ſecond Time, was abſolutely without Foundation. It is certain, on the contrary, that his Catholick Majeſty hath long ſince recovered of his Vagaries of that ſort. This is ſo true, that when the Ambaſſador of Sardinia acquainted him with King Victor-Amadeus's Abdication, he anſwered him, that he would repent it before Six Months were at an End. So likewiſe wiſe all that has been publiſhed of the pretended Power of the Queen, who was repreſented as ruling deſpotically and without Controll, is equally contrary to Truth. It is the King, that is at preſent ſole Maſter; and the Queen is at preſent very far from bearing the Sway ſhe formerly did: Nay, ſhe is obliged to tread gently, and to act with abundance of Caution, when ſhe has a mind to bring the King into her Sentiments; for if ſhe happens to ſay any thing that is not agreeable to him, the Monarch will not ſpeak to her ſometimes for three or four Days together. The Grandees of Spain too, whoſe Influence has been ſo powerful in former Reigns, have now no more than what the King thinks fit to give them. In ſhort, his Catholick Majeſty has actually 80000 Men on Foot, 40000 whereof are as fine Troops as any in Europe: He can likewiſe fit out a Fleet of 20 Men of War, or more. It is true, all this cannot be done without an Expence too great to be borne, but for the annual Supply of the Galleons; and therefore all poſſible Care will be taken for their regular Departure and Return for the future.

Extract of a private Letter from Paris.

Several Cabinet Councils have been holden of late, upon two Affairs of great Importance, namely, the Expedition for which the Ships are fitting out at Breſt and Toulon; and the preſent State of Affairs in Poland, and the Meaſures to be taken before the Meeting of the General or Extraordinary Dyet of that Kingdom. Some ſay there are already very powerful Factions in Favour of King Staniſlaus: if this be true, the Dyet will break up abruptly again, in ſpight of all the Court of Warſaw can do.

Vienna, April 9. The Duke of Liria, Ambaſſador of Spain, has declared by Order of his Court, that the Spaniſh Armament is deſigned againſt Barbary. A Courier from Conſtantinople has brought Advice, that the Turks had erected the Horſe Tail againſt Muſcovy; and that they will take the Field with 300000 Men.

London, May 13. Laſt Night the Corpſe of the Rev. Dr. Atterbury, late Biſhop of Rocheſter, was removed from Mr. Purby's an Undertaker, and interr'd about 12 at Night in a decent private Manner, attended only by W. Morrice, Eſq; his Son in law, and his two Chaplains, the Rev. Dr. Savage, and the Reverend Mr. Moore: On the Urn which contained his Bowels, &c. was inſcrib'd, In hac Urna depoſiti ſunt Cineres Franciſci Atterburi Epiſcopi Roffenſis.

We hear that all the ſaid late Biſhop's Papers were ſeized by Thomas Walker, Eſq; one of the Commiſſioners of the Cuſtoms, on board the Veſſel that brought over his Body.

Dublin, April 8. Laſt Tueſday, we hear, one John Gallagher, at Ratoath, murdered three of his Children as they lay in their Bed, viz. a Daughter about 19 Years old, a Son of 26, & a Daughter about 9. He attempted to murder his Wife and another Child alſo, but they eſcaped. There is no Account of the Cauſe of this Inhumanity, but the Man is committed to to the Jail of Trim.

London, April 25. Extract of a Letter from Bombay, in the Indies, dated Nov. 12.

Good Friend,

After giving you a brief Account of my Affairs, I muſt not forget to tell you that we had a ſad Engagement from the joint Force of the Savarojer of the Savages, and Angrie the Pyrate, who furniſhes Ships and Ammunition. The Savarojer lately ſent his chief General Moluch Zeden, who made a Deſcent on the Old Women's Iſland, a Place near us, but were bravely repuls'd and beat back by about 400 ſtout Engliſh Soldiers, under the Conduct of Capt. Southwell; whereupon Moluch Zeden was put to Death by the Savarojer's Order, and Hamet Zellon appointed to ſucceed him, with a Deputation of 20000 Men, all freſh Troops, who are now preparing to attack that Place again; but be aſſured, the Engliſh, with 500 Men, will again be victorious, which we ſhall certainly have when the European Ships come from Bengall. Some Recruits are neceſſary, but I am under no Apprehenſion of our Suffering. I am, with reſpect, Yours,

GAB. WHITE.

Edinburgh, April 11. We hear from Pennycuik, about 7 Miles from this City, that on Saturday ſe'nnight, a Farmer's Houſe in the Neighbourhood was burnt down in the Night-time: It ſeems, the Fire began in a Cot houſe adjoining to the Farmer's, and the Woman who lived in it was taken out dead, and it is ſaid had ſome Marks of Violence upon her, which makes it believed ſhe was murdered, and the Houſe wilfully ſet on fire. It is ſaid ſhe was with Child to a married Man, who is accuſed of theſe horrid Facts.

London, April 28. We hear that on Sunday laſt, Miſs Helena Andrews, ſecond Daughter of Sir Francis Andrews, renounc'd the Errors of the Church of Rome, and embrac'd the Proteſtant Religion, and received the Sacrament from the Hands of Dr. Warren at the Pariſh Church of Stratford le Bow, in the County of Middleſex.

London, April 29. We are inform'd the late Duke of Ormond has been here a Fortnight; and that his Attainder will be revers'd this Seſſions of Parliament.

May 2. The Talk of four great Matches, between his Royal Highneſs the Prince of Wales, the three eldeſt Princeſſes, ſome Foreign Princes, and a certain Princeſs of Royal Blood, is reviv'd again, and with great Confidence affirm'd at ſome Foreign Courts.

May 3. 'Tis ſaid that the Czarina will in a very ſhort Time obtain the Title of Empreſs of Ruſſia from this Crown.

May 6. His Majeſty has been pleaſed to appoint the Lord How to be Governor of Barbadoes, in the Room of Walter Chetwynd, Eſq; lately deceaſed.

Hague, April 1. We have received Advices from from Barbary, that the Duke de Ripperda, late Prime Miniſter of Spain, is now made a Slave; and that the King of Morocco has been taking Meaſures to oblige him to draw out the Money he knows he has in the Bank of England, to pay his Ranſom and purchaſe his Liberty.

Extract of a private Letter from Vienna.

The Infante Duke having wrote a Letter to his Imperial Majeſty, directed, To the Emperor my Brother, the Imperial Court could not help ſhewing ſome Reſentment at it; and it is believed the Letter will be ſent back unanſwered. It is all the Talk here, that that young Prince has formed a Deſign to make himſelf King of Corſica, or King of Lombardy.

Hague, April 8. The great and unexpected Armament of Spain, is Matter of the higheſt Concern and Importance: For we cannot believe it to be deſign'd only againſt the Moors, becauſe that would be more Coſt than Worſhip. Oran is not a Place of Importance enough to anſwer up to ſuch an Expence; and on the other hand, ſuppoſing it were even in the Hands of the Spaniards, the Engliſh would hardly accept of it in Exchange for Gibraltar, as ſome have inconſiderately advanced. We are more apt to believe, therefore, that the Deſign is either againſt Corſica or Sardinia, or perhaps againſt both thoſe Iſlands: But moſt People think it muſt be againſt ſome Part of Italy, becauſe the Spaniards have ſhipped Arms for 30000 Men, beſide the Troops of the Expedition. Neither is there much Room to doubt, but France will join the Spaniards with a conſiderable Squadron, ſince ſeveral of his Moſt Chriſtian Majeſty's beſt and moſt experienced Sea-Officers, have obtained Leave to go on board the Spaniſh Fleet, and accept of Commands.

If the Malcontents of Corſica did not undertake their Revolt againſt the Republick of Genoa, without the Inſtigation of France and Spain, as ſome will have it; they could not certainly ſupport themſelves ſo long without the Aſſiſtance of ſome Foreign Power. It is ſaid, that not only ſome French Officers of Diſtinction have croſſed over into that Iſland, to exerciſe and train up the Malcontents to Arms, and to aſſure them that they ſhall never be abandoned: But that the Queen of Spain imagines, that if her Son were once Sovereign of that Iſland, it might ſerve him as a good Footſtool to mount the Thrones of Sardinia, Naples and Sicily; Points of Sight, which (in their Judgment) that Princeſs will never loſe: And France, ſay they, deſires no better, than thus to render the Houſe of Bourbon more powerful than ever, were it only to be abſolute Miſtreſs of the Mediterranean, and of all the Commerce of the Levant.

Hague, April 13. 'Tis written from Kaufbeiren, that 1500 Proteſtants of the Dioceſs of Saltzburgh arrived there, and had been received by the Pruſſian Commiſſary, who furniſhed them with Money and other Neceſſaries for their Journey to the Pruſſian Dominions, where they propoſe to ſettle.

April 18. From Berlin we hear, That his Pruſſian Majeſty had cauſed 20000 Crowns to be remitted, to his Commiſſary at Donawert, for the Uſe of the poor Proteſtants of Saltzburgh, with Orders to receive all ſuch as are oblig'd to leave their native Country on Account of the Proteſtant Religion, and willing to ſettle in the Pruſſian Dominions, though the Number of them ſhould amount to Forty Thouſand Families.

Paris, April 23. We are to have four Camps towards the End of the Summer; one upon the Sambre, another upon the Maeſe, a third upon the Rhine, and a fourth in Franche-Comte.

Thoſe who pretend to penetrate deeply into the Secrets of the Court of France, ſay, the Cardinal de Fleury is reſolved in good earneſt to retire from Buſineſs, his Age and Infirmities not permitting him to bear the Weight of it; beſides that he finds the King, inſtigated by all the Princes of the Blood, very much enclined to War; and his Eminency being loth it ſhould be ſaid the Sword was drawn in his Miniſtry. The Keeper of the Seals, is, we know, recommended by the Cardinal to ſucceed him; but if he ſhould, we imagine it will only be till the Arrival of the Cardinal de Polignac from the Court of Rome; who if once he gets the Reins of Prime Miniſter of France into his Hands, will challenge the Richelieus and Mazarines for Politicks and Enterprize, and Europe will probably be ſoon made ſenſible of the Effects of it. And therefore, we are told, the King is much more inclined to have the Cardinal Polignac, than the Keeper of the Seals, at the Helm: And beſides, the Princes of the Blood will never like a Succeſſor of the Cardinal de Fleury's recommending, for fear he ſhould have a double Portion of his Eminency's Spirit.

Ratisbon, April 24. The Miniſter of the King of Great Britain, as Elector of Hanover, notified to the Evangelick Body, that the King his Maſter had ordered a general Collection throughout his German Dominions, to be made for the Relief of the poor Proteſtants of Saltzburgh, who are forced to leave their native Country on Account of their profeſſing the Proteſtant Faith; and that that Monarch will contribute the Sum of 3000 Rixdollars, to make the intended Relief the more extenſive to ſubvene their neceſſitous Condition.

Hamburgh, April 29. A Collection for the Relief of the Proteſtant Saltzburghers has been Yeſterday made in the five principal Churches in this City, which amounted to 10000 Rixdollars.

Paris, April 25. Some Advices from Italy ſay, the Genoeſe having met another French Ship, laden with Proviſions and Ammunition for the Malcontents of Corſica, they attacked and took her, after having killed Part of her Crew for Reſiſting. 'Tis ſaid the Miniſters of the Republick are gone to Verſailles, to lay before the King's Miniſters the Reaſons for this new Affront to the Colours of France.

PHILADELPHIA, August 7.

We hear that one James Hill, has for some Weeks past travell'd about the Country on foot, pretending to be dumb, and made great Profit of the Charity and Credulity of the People. He has with him a Counterfeit Brief, setting forth, that being taken and kept in Slavery seven Years in Turky, he once attempted to make his Escape, for which they barbarously cut out his Tongue, and burnt him in each Arm; and accordingly he shows two grievous Sores in his Arms, which however are artificial; for at Goshen in Chester County, some People suspecting Fraud, threatned him, &c. so much, that they oblig'd him to speak very well, and confess his Roguery, showing them his Trick of shrinking his Tongue into the back of his Mouth, so as to appear as if it was cut away. They, it seems, were too busy to carry him to a Magistrate, it being Harvest Time, and so they gave him his Liberty; and he continues the same Practice, going from House to House; and having pass'd back of Philadelphia, and through North Wales, 'tis suppos'd he intends to make his Progress in the Jerseys. He came from Annapolis, but avoided Newcastle and Chester as well as this City. 'Tis hop'd this publick Notice may put a Stop to his Proceedings, and prevent good-natur'd People from being further impos'd on by him.
